Pat McClain & Scott Hanson

At Hanson McClain our reputation rests on our record of delivering straight-talking investment and retirement planning advice, coupled with a very high level of personalized client service. Our firm is structured so that we do not offer our own inventory of financial products. This allows us to maintain our independence and it helps ensure we achieve our primary goal: advancing the interests of our clients.

Our company is committed to conducting business with a high degree of professional integrity, ethical behavior and respect. We are guided by these core values in everything we do.

Hanson McClain is Sacramento's choice for independent financial advice, investing nearly a billion dollars on behalf of our clients throughout the region.
